Social and Personal

The official reception held from 9 to 11 last evening in the Executive Mansion by Governor and Mrs. Andrew J. Montague was the event of yesterday.

The fine old colonial house with its epaclousness and its air of hospitable welcome, with its softly tinted walls, its massing of palms, and its glow of American Beauty roses seemed particularly bright and inviting when callers came in from the dreary outside atmosphere.

The rooms were brilliantly lighted, and members of the Governor's staff in their handsome regimentals stood about the halls and parlors laughing and chatting with the guests. Music from an orchestra made a harmonious finish to the color and life and movement of the scene. Receiving with Governor and Mrs, Montague were:

LITTLE BOY BLUE.

By EUGENE FIELD.

Eugene Field was born at St. Louis September 3, 1850. He died in Chicago November 4, 1855. His father was a lawyer. The nost lived at Amherst, Mass., as a boy, also in Vermont, and attended Williams College, Knox College and the Misseuri State Die et sity. Having spent $60,000 left him by his father, he became a newspaper writer and proctificities Boy Blue" is from "A Little Book of Western Verse," copyrighted, 1839, by Eugene Field and published by Charles Scribner's Sons.

HE little toy dog is covered with dust,
But sturdy and stanch he stands;
And the little toy soldier is red with rust,
And his musket moulds in his hands.
Time was when the little toy dog was new
And the soldier was passing fair.
And hist was the time when our Little Boy Blue
Kissed them and put them there.

"Now, don't you go till I come," he said,
And don't you make any noise!"
So toddling off to his trundle-bed,
Hel dreamt of the pretty toys,
And as he was dreaming, an angel song
Awakened our Little Boy Bluo—
Oh, the years are many, the years are long,
But the little toy friends are true.

Ay, faithful to Little Boy Blue they stand,

Ay, faithful to Little Boy Bine they stand,
Each in the same old place,
Awaiting the touch of a little hand,
The smile of a little face.
And they wonder, as waiting these long years through,
In the dust of that little chair,
What has become of our Little Boy Blue
Since he kissed them and put them there.

THE TEST OF

GOOD BREEDING

What can be more eruel to a sensitive soul than to be conscious that you are thinking of and observing his or her deformity or misiorune—that you are wondering "how it happened?"
Think of the 'tremendous handleaps which those poor people have to struggle against, and never remaind them that you ever notice them. No one knows the struggles, the embarrassments, the charten of the mortification, the discouragement which these poor people suffer.

A noted cripple once said that he always gauged his friends by the degree in which they reminded him of his deformity. A well-bred lady or gentleman will never apparently notice any defect or deformity in another, or remind him even indirectly on his misfortune; but they will try to make him forget them.

Never to notice or speak of that which can possibly give pain or embarrassment to another is the test of good breeding. We often see people in the cars and on the streets stare at deformites, physical defects and deficiencies of unfortunates, in a manner which almost brings tears to our eyes.

Horace Mann says: "If there is a boy

RULES FOR MOTHER

AND CHILD Before she left the nurse inculcated a few rules for my guidance: The baby was never to be walked with.

She was to take a three hours' nap in the morning—if she woke up sooner, she was to be put to sleep again.

She was to be put to bed at 6 o'clock, for it was very bad management to have a child around in the evening.

The man didn't live that liked to ste his wife in a morning gown when he came home at nlight, so no matter how tred I was, I was always to dress for dinner, and not "get in any of them sl.p-ch.d ways."

A NORFOLK DELEGATION

Appear Before the Committee of Rivers and Harbors in Behalf of Thirty-five Foot Channel.

FOR A NEGRO APPROPRIATION

Capt. Lamb's Bill Giving Money for Jamestown That Was Held by the Freedmen's Bureau.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.) WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 26.-A large delegation of representative business men of Norfolk and Portsmouth appeared before the Committee on Rivers and Harbors to-day in behalf of the proposition to widen and deepen the channel. The committee heard representatives of the delegation for over an hour. Several of the committee expressed themselves as being fully alive to the need of the impervement asked and it may be taken of the committee expressed themselves as being fully alive to the need of the imporvement asked, and it may be taken as well assured that when a river and harbor bill is introduced at the next session of Congress it will contain an item for the substantial improvement of the harbor at Norfolk, one of the finest as well as one of the most important on Unclo Sam's long const line.

TO ORDER SURVEY.

Senator Martin succeeded in getting through the Senate at the present session a resolution directing that a survey be made, showing the cost of making a thirty-five foot channel to the Norfolk navy yard, but owing to the fact that the Republicans, have decided that there shall be no general bill this year for the improvement of rivers and harbors, the resolution will hardly get through the House, though Mr. Maynard has introduced it and will do all he can to have the survey made, so that the committee will be in possession of the information when the subject of a bill is taken up next year.

THE COMMITTEE.

The Norfolk and Portsmouth gentiemen who appeared before the committee this morning included Admiral P. F. Harrington, commandant of the Norfolk navy yard, who has taken a remarkable interest in the improvement of the harbor: W. R. Mayo, Norfolk Chamber of Commerce: W. R. Boutwell, Virginia Pilota' Association: R. A. Dobie, representing the Norfolk harbor commissioners: T. S. Southgate, Norfolk Common Council; F. K. Wonycott and S. T. Montague, Portsmouth Common Council; Henty Pyle and W. B. Shafer, Common Council of the city of Berkley; L. P. Slater and J. Davis Reed, representing the Business Men's Association of Portsmouth. The speakers were Admiral Harrington and Messrs. Doble, Mayo and Boutwell. Representative Maynard also addressed the committee, and after the hearing took the members of the delegation in charge and showed them many Courtesies.

The delegation will hardly start home before to-morrow night, though some of them left to-night, NEGRO EXHIBIT AT JAMESTOWN.

NEGRO EXHIBIT AT JAMESTOWN.
Representative Lamb will introduce tomorrow a, bill, making an appropriation to aid the negroes of the country in having an exhibit at the Jamestown Exposition. Giles B. Jacksho, the colored lawyer of Richmond, and the directorgeneral of the Negro Development and Exposition Company of the United States, was here to-day, and saw Captain Lamb relative to the bill. The billwill provide for the appropriation of the sum of two hundred thousand dollars, which is to come out of all moneys, arrears of pay and bounty which are due the estates of colored Union soldiers, and which money was held by the Freedmen's Eureau, and afterwards repaid into the treasury of the United States. It will also provide that the further sum of one million dollars be given the negroes for the purpose of helping them show to the world what they have accomplished
since they were freed.

SAFEGUARDED.

SAPEGUARDED.

The bill will provide that no part of the appropriation be paid until the Attorney-General of the United States shall have reported to the Secretary of the Treasury that the Negro Development and Exposition Company is properly incorporated for the purposes set forth in the act, nor until the company shall have given sufficient bond, to be approved by the judge of the United States Court for the Eastern District of Virginia, conditioned upon the faithful performance of their duties in the expenditure of the money.

Accompanying the bill will be the petition setting forth, among other things, that the sum of two hundred thousand dollars, which is asked, is legally due members of the negro race, and that it cannot be better expended than in help-SAFEGUARDED. memoers of the neglecture of the new forces, and the new forces of the new to mankind what they have wrought since they came out of slavery, less than forty years ago.

There will also be filed with the bill. probably, a prospectus of the negro company. The advisory board of the company is composed of well known white men of the country, including ex-Governor Tyler, Governor Aycock, of North Carolina: Emanuel Raab and Charles Millhiser, of Richmond, and Simon Seward, president of the First National Bank of Petersburg. Governor Tyler, Governor Aycock and Grover Clevekind have written letters endorsing the objects of the company, and promising to lend their assistance when possible and needed.

Nothing can be said as to the probabilities of the bill passing. It may be that the Congress will enact a measure giving to the company the amount of unclaimed bounty money due the estates of negro soldiers.

NEW BANK.

The Comptroller of the Currency has approved an application to organize the 'First National Bank of Portsmouth, Va.," with a capialization of $100,000.

The incorporators are: Robert N. Harper, of Washington, president of the American National Bank of this city; John L. Watson, T. J. Wood, D. W. Todd and W. S. Langhorne.

Representative Maynard is also intercested in the new bank.

When seen by The Times-Dispatch correspondent to-day, Colonell Harper said: "The advisability of establishing a national bank in Portsmouth has been under favorable consideration for some time. It is believed by those at the head of this movement that there are few places where there is more favorable opportunity for doing a large business."

It may be stated upon good authority that the new bank will be run upon the lines of the American National, of this city, which is to say that the old-time "so-called conservative banking methods," as one of the incorporators of the Portsmouth First National Bank puts it, will be abandoned. All the new, up-to-date methods which have been the means of making the American National a success, will be put forward in the case of the Portsmouth bank.

Colonel Harper left this afterpoon for Richmond, and will be in Portsmouth to-morrow to look over the ground.

Every time he asks the question the audience enjoys a hearty laugh, and were there no other laughs than those caused by that query, there would be a goodly number to the credit of the comedian. As it is, however, John Ransone's impersonation of the German brower from Clincinnait is a laugh from start to finish. It is a great piece of work.

brewer from Cincinnati is a laugh from start to finish. It is a great plece of work.

"The Prince of Pilsen" is a most claborate production, and is beautifully staged. The chorus is a large one, and numbers among it a lot of pretty girls. Illiss Polly Guzman makes a stunning Mrs. Madison Crocker, realizing the popular idea—from a stage point of view—of the widow who is an awfully folly fellow. Miss Belle Bucklin, as Nellis Wagner, the brewer's daughter, might well poss as a little German muld, for she certainly looked the part. Lou Mariew was quite fetching as a Vassar girl. Mr. Hobart Smock, possesses a manily form, as well as a good voice, and made a picturesque looking Prince, Victor Morley was excellent as Lord Somerset, and Ivan Anderson was entirely acceptable as Lieutenant Tom Wagnhe Citics, received encore after encore. Richmond was well represented and the audience seemed immensely please when she walked across the stage. Mr. Hansone came in for much ally was the Dutch." It has been heart here many times this season, but Mr. Ransone's singing of it is quite another thing.

An audience that very nearly filled the Academy witnessed the production. The Prince of Flison will be repeated this afternoon and evening.

And what is more, the audiences applicant the play as it progresses. The acting dogs are the wonders of the play. Lovers of melodrama do not expect much that is new in the way of theme or plot, but in the play now running there are startling situations and unique mechanical effects.
